Between Scylla and Charybdis: Positioning European regions in the 21st century

Neil Riley
Navigating the straits

Between Scylla and Charybdis: Positioning European regions in the 21st century
Die Natur der Regionen

The nature of regions

Between Scylla and Charybdis: Positioning European regions in the 21st century
Doctors will rule in biggest NHS revolution for 60 years: Billions given to GPs as trusts face axe

By TAMARA COHEN
Last updated at 1:46 PM on 9th July 2010

- Primary care trusts to be scrapped
- Family doctors given £80billion
- GPs will pay hospitals directly

Doctors will be given sole responsibility for patient care under plans for the biggest shake-up of the NHS in 60 years.

Around £80bn will be handed straight to family GPs, while the 150 strategic health authorities and primary care trusts who currently channel it will be drastically cut back.

The plans, to be published in a white paper next week, are a victory for Health Secretary Andrew Lansley who has lobbied to give taxpayers’ money directly to doctors to reduce red tape and escalating costs.
Between Scylla and Charybdis: Positioning European regions in the 21st century
Between Scylla and Charybdis: Positioning European regions in the 21st century
Between Scylla and Charybdis: Positioning European regions in the 21st century
Between Scylla and Charybdis: Positioning European regions in the 21st century
Health in all REGIONAL policies

Between Scylla and Charybdis: Positioning European regions in the 21st century
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>National (Macro)</th>
<th>Regional (Meso)</th>
<th>Local (Micro)</th>
<th>Transport</th>
<th>Employment</th>
<th>Health</th>
<th>Education</th>
<th>Development</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

Between Scylla and Charybdis: Positioning European regions in the 21st century
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Folgerungen</th>
<th>Conclusions</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Wir stehen alle auf derselben Seite</td>
<td>We’re all on the same side</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wir brauchen wirksame Instrumente</td>
<td>We need effective tools</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wir brauchen Erfahrungsaustausch</td>
<td>We need to share experiences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Es geht um die Umsetzung von Prinzipien in die Praxis</td>
<td>It’s about turning principles to practice</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Thank you, Vielen Dank,
Diolch yn fawr

Neil.riley@wales.nhs.uk